THE AUSTRIAN LLOYD'S MAIL STEAMERS leave Alexandria direct for Trieste weekly, immediately after the arrival of the Bombay and Calcutta Mails and Passengers from Suez. The passage occupies only 4½ to 5 days and the Company employ on this line their best Steamers, built expressly for this service, and with special reference to the accommodation and comfort of Passengers, with an experienced Surgeon on board each vessel. At Trieste the traveller to England has an extensive choice of picturesque and interesting routes, occupying from 3 days 6 hours to 5 days to London at an expense varying from £7 to £13.

The railway between Trieste, Calais and Ostend, is complete throughout.

The Custom-house and Pass-port systems have been considerably modified and need not cause any apprehension of being vexatious or troublesome.

The undersigned Agents are prepared to grant passage tickets for the Steamers plying between Alexandria and Trieste and for the railway between Suez and Alexandria.

BOMBAY MARKET REPORT.

(From our Overland Summary of this morning.)

BOMBAY, 28*th September* 1863.

THE fair season has now set in, after the very favourable termination of the monsoon, and communication with the Interior and the Coast has been freely resumed.

Our Market has been very active during the last fortnight, chiefly owing to the encouraging advices from home pointing to an indifinite procrastination of the American war. The rise of prices in Liverpool and Manchester has had a corresponding effect here in Cotton Piece Goods which are now in brisk demand at enhanced rates, and a large business has been done both in speculation and for actual consumption. Stocks are being rapidly exhausted, and with stimulating news from England, there will still be a furthur rise in demand and value, considering the tendency of the market towards the healthy and firm tone. Yarns have participated in the excitement. Metals continue in moderate demand at former rates.

Cotton is very active, and many sales have transpired at an advance of about Rs. 20 to 30 per candy. Seeds are dull.

IMPORTS.

COTTON PIECE GOODS.—The market has been very much excited, and a brisk demand prevails for all descriptions of Grey Goods at a considerable advance in value.

Grey Shirtings, 40, 45, 50 and 64 in. of all weights, Grey Longcloths, Domestics, T Cloths, Drills, Printers, Cambrics, and Madapollams have attracted the most attention, chiefly owing to their scarcity, and prices shew a considerable advance. Grey Mulls and Jacconets in firm demand at higher rates. Very large sales have occurred for goods on the spot and for arrival.

Bleached Goods have participated in the improvement, and are dearer in value.

Dyed Goods and Prints have advanced in price, but few sales have been effected.

T. Red Goods are rather dull, but firm.

Sales reported are :—

(From the 7th to the 25th instant inclusive.)

METALS.—The market remains firm with moderate demand. In Tin Plates there is nothing particular to notice. Sales are :—

EXPORTS.

COTTON.—Since the arrival of the mail, bringing telegraphic advices of the rise of a penny in the Liverpool Cotton Market, the market has become much animated, and many transactions have taken place at an advance of about Rs. 20 to 30 per candy upon previous quotations. Stocks are moderate, and supplies are coming in freely. Sales reported are :—

WOOL.—There is scarcely so much doing in it, and rates are easier.

SEEDS.—Linseed is dull and barely maintains its value. Rapeseed has declined in price. Other Seeds are quiet and unaltered.

COFFEE.—Mocha has been in request and prices are higher ; Malabar is somewhat cheaper.

Saltpetre is quoted Rs. 11 to Rs. 12 for Mooltan, and Rs. 7½ to Rs. 8 for Scinde.

FREIGHTS.

WE have again to record a decided improvement in our Freight Market, and rates which were quoted as firm last mail, have continued to advance throughout the past fortnight, and the Market closes at an advance of 5s. per ton for Cotton to Liverpool and still has an upward tendency ; and looking to the favorable advices received from England by the last mail, there is every probability of rates still further advancing ; but as nearly all the orders taken up have been of a speculative character, a great deal of uncertainty overhangs the Market, and as Cotton will not commence to arrive freely until the end of next month, it is anticipated a decline will shortly ensue, when these speculative orders are relet. The following is a list of the reported engagements ; whether they be speculative or otherwise.—For London.—Chapman, 750 tons, Seeds at £2-15-0, measurement Goods at £3-2-6.—For Liverpool.—Bates Family 2,179 tons, Beeston Castle, 1,050 tons, Edendale, 890 tons, Elephalet Greely, 1,091 tons, Hahneman, 1,328 tons, Joshua, 894 tons, Lady Havelock, 855 tons, Lord Palmerston, 1,057 tons, Magdalene, 459 tons, Minnehaha, 844 tons, Oriental, 1,663 tons, Tythonus, 1,152 tons, part cargoes of Cotton at £3-0-0 to £3-5-0 ; and the Helen Scott, 992 tons, made her first engagement at £3-7-6, and the new iron ship City of Brussels, 990 tons, obtained £3-7-6 to £3-10-0.—For Moulmain and back.—The Lady Franklin, 1,189 tons, proceeds to Moulmain and back to this port for Rs. 35 per ton, carrying a cargo of Teak ; and the Celuta, 668 tons, was sold for Rs. 67,500 to one of the local Shipping Associations, with her homeward charter. We quote rates as firm.

Liverpool...Cotton	£3 0 0 to £3 10 0	per ton.
Seeds	£2 0 0 Nominal.	,,
London......Cotton	£3 2 6 to £3 5 0	,,
Seeds	£2 15 10 Nominal.	,,

MONEY MARKET AND EXCHANGE.

The market continues easy, though a demand for money has become apparent. The Bank of Bombay rates remain unaltered except for Bills having more than two months to run, for which the rate is raised one per cent.

GOVERNMENT SECURITIES have further declined, the quotations closing at Rs. 98¾ for Fours : Rs. 107½ for Fives, and Rs. 117½ for Fives-and-a-half, at which, however, little has been done.

The excitement which had been dominant in the SHARE MARKET has been suddenly followed by a panic and depression ; prices of all the Banks and Joint Stock Companies have considerably receded, and several of them are quoted at a discount.

EXCHANGE on England opened at about the last Mail's rates, but steadily improved more than one per cent. We quote Bank Bills 2s. 0⅝d. ; Credits 2s. 0¾d. ; and Documents 2s. 0⅞d., with an upward tendency.

On Calcutta, rates have declined about ¼ per cent. ; the quotations are Rs. 98¼ for 60 days' sight Bills, and Rs. 99½ for sight Bills.

On China, the rate is Rs. 229 per 100 dollars.

Letter to the Editor.

MR. COKE, EDUCATIONAL INSPECTOR.

SIR,—You say this morning that the Inspector' Department requires looking into, doubtless it does, in common with all other Departments, as there must always be plenty of room for improvement everywhere. But common fairness demands that the bright side of the picture should be shown as well as the dark. Mr. Coke is only a mortal and possibly may have been betrayed into error in re Harkness. But he does not deserve the hard words that have been showered upon him of late. Having had the pleasure to serve under him ever since his connection with the Educational Department, I can unhesitatingly declare, from my own experience, that the foul aspersions that have been cast upon his character are as false as they are groundless. His department towards the masters of schools is always characterized by politeness and kindness, and I have never known him to use a harsh word without sufficient cause. He is candid, I admit, and points out defects in teaching and discipline on the spot, instead of inflicting an official whigging on paper, which perhaps is offensive to certain sensitive grumblers. Let facts testify. He has raised the scale of pay, so as to leave no room for grumbling. The Assistants at the Central School are far better paid than they used to be, before Mr. Coke joined. I need not mention all the improvements he has made, a reference to the Educational Reports will satisfy any fair inquirer. Even his enemies must admit that he is the most active and energetic Inspector the Department has ever had, and makes no sinecure of his appointment. That he has the best interests of the subordinates of the Department at heart is the honest conviction of your humble servant,

THE

Bombay Gazette.

TUESDAY, SEPTEMBER 29, 1863.

THE telegraphic intelligence from Japan to be found in another part of our paper, shows that the long pending hostilities have actually commenced. But judging from the meagre character of the news, the results do not appear to be satisfactory. British ships bombarded a part of the Japanese coast, subject to prince Satsuma, the man said to be responsible for the murder of Mr. Richardson, but we do not appear to have made much by the attack. We are told that the town (the name of which is not mentioned) we bombarded, was well protected by twelve batteries which were excellently mounted, and must have been just as well served, considering the loss the ships sustained. Whether the bombardment actually failed does not quite appear, though the returning to Yokohama, without the report of anything being achieved, looks a little like it. We must await fuller details, however, before any opinions can be ventured on the subject.

THE Delhi Gazette gives the following as the latest from Afghanistan which shows that affairs there are not so bad as they are called.

"Our Cabul letter-to-day describes the entry into Cabul of the Ameer Shere Allee Khan. He has made up the quarrel with Auzim Khan who went, it appears, to the Ameer's camp, instead of the Ameer visiting him in his fort, and affairs in the capital of Affghanistan wear a more peaceable aspect than we expected.

"Since this was in type, we have received another letter from Cabul bringing news up to the 10th ultimo. This letter corroborates the intelligence given in that published below.

"The only additional item is that Mahomed Ameen Khan of Candahar has been coining money in his own name. This is, as is well known, equivalent to an assertion of independent sovereignty."

THE Meeting of the British Association which was held this year at Newcastle under the Presidency of Sir William Armstrong and had hardly concluded its labours when the last Mail left, seems to have been one of the most numerously attended, as well as one of the most interesting in respect to the character of the proceedings, which has been held for many years. Sir William's opening address was really a masterly affair, the topics were well arranged, they all possessed practical and speculative interest, and they were handled with such lucidity, force, and knowledge of the different subjects, as to show Sir William capable of many things besides his special pre-eminence in the science of gunnery.

One subject, discussed in the opening address, seems to have taken precedence in the public mind above all others, from the somewhat startling character of the president's speculations upon the facts which he detailed. The coal, and coal fields of Great Britain, are mines of wealth, transcending in importance all that has ever been fabled about Golconda, Mexico and Peru, and any opinion propounded, possessing the least value, that they are doomed to exhaustion at some definite period however remote, is certain to create considerable excitement. Who does not remember the heated discussions that took place in Parliament three years ago on the occasion of the debates on the French Treaty? Rhetoricians of the frothy, factitious order, of which Mr. Horsman is a noted specimen, poured forth the most dreadful denunciations on the devoted head of Mr. Gladstone for being a party to permitting our French neighbours to a share in this branch of our mineral wealth,—on duly paying for the same,—and we were solemnly told that such proceedings could only end in the destruction of England's greatness even though it might take a thousand years or so to complete our ruin. Sir William is far less merciful for he reduces the period of England's glory and supremacy in so far as it depends on the existence of our coal and coal-fields to 200 years, or thereabouts!

Turning, he says, "to our own particular country, and contemplating the rate at which we are expending those seams of coal which yield the best quality of fuel, and can be worked at the least expense, we shall find much cause for anxiety. The greatness of England much depends upon the superiority of her coal in cheapness and quality over that of other nations ; but we have already drawn from our choicest mines a far larger quantity of coal than has been raised in all other parts of the world put together, and the time is not remote when we shall have to encounter the disadvantages of increased cost of working and diminished value of produce. Estimates have been made at various periods of the time which would be required to produce complete exhaustion of all the accessible coal in the British islands. These estimates are extremely discordant ; but the discrepancies arise, not from any important disagreement as to the available quantity of coal, but from the enormous difference in the rate of consumption at the various dates when the estimates were made, and also from the different views which have been entertained as to the probable increase of consumption in future years. The quantity of coal yearly worked from British mines has been almost trebled during the last 20 years, and has probably increased tenfold since the commencement of the present century ; but as this increase has taken place pending the introduction of steam navigation and railway transit, and under exceptional conditions of manufacturing development, it would be too much to assume that it will continue to advance with equal rapidity. The statistics collected by Mr. Hunt, of the Mining Records office, show that at the end of 1861 the quantity of coal raised in the Untited Kingdom had reached the enormous total of 86,000,000 tons, and that the average annual increase of the eight preceding years amounted to 2¾ millions of tons."

Sir William then goes on to inquire what will be the duration of our coal fields if a more moderate rate of increase be maintained. He says the entire quantity of available coal existing in Great Britain has been calculated to amount to about 80,000 millions of tons, which at the present rate of consumption, "would be exhausted in 930 years, but with a continued yearly increase of 23 millions of tons, would only last 212 years," and he considers that long before complete exhaustion takes place England will have ceased to be "a coal-producing country on an extensive scale." The data from which Sir William draws these conclusions is a mere matter of calculation ; the facts are well ascertained, and there seems no reason to doubt their accuracy.

The hope of the world for a coal supply after the "200 years" have expired, is, we are told, the United States. These states are said to possess coal fields "37 times more extensive than ours, and they will then be working more accessible beds at a smaller cost, and will be able to displace the English coal from every market." What a pity with such an enterprise before them, certified to on other testimony than their own boasting, that the Americans do not at once take to tilling such a rich field of husbandry of a sort they have not hitherto cultivated, instead of putting forth all their energies in a destructive contest in which, when it comes to an end, it will be found that both parties have been losers, and neither will have had a complete triumph over the other. Sir William Armstrong in his researches on the subject of coal-fields seems to have over-looked those of India. The Supreme Government of India and the subordinate ones, are eternally having the resources of the country written about, by their own officers and others—but with wonderfully little result. The coal-fields of India have been matter of report and discussion for more than twenty years, but nothing practically has been done to show that they are worth anything ; and Dr. M'Clelland's report upon them laid before Parliament only three months ago, gives no information on the subject of a later date than was known eighteen years ago!

The coal question is one of such national importance, that though coal is private property, Sir William Armstrong thinks Government would be perfectly justified in interfering by the enforcement of "such modes of working as the national interest may demand."

Amongst the other topics discussed in the President's address, The Dynamical Theory of Heat, and The Darwinian Theory of Organic life and the transmission of species, bore a leading part, but they are subjects, the discussion of which, is not particularly suitable in the columns of a newspaper. Sir William made some interesting observations on the subject of telegraphing and shorthand. He marvels that while mechanical appliances have increased in such a remarkable manner that "the fundamental art of expressing thought by written symbols remains as imperfect now, as it has been for centuries past." He thinks it strange that while we actually possess a system of shorthand, by which words can be recorded as rapidly as they are spoken, we should persist in writing a slow and laborious longhand. It is intelligible he says "that growing up persons who have acquired the present conventional art of writing should be reluctant to incur the labour of mastering a better system, but there can be no reason why the rising generation should not be instructed in a method of writing more in accordance with the activity of mind which now prevails."

Sir William raises incidentally larger questions on this point than his confident remarks can settle. Scientific men have always been fond of schemes for using mechanical aids in reference to written language, but few of their nostrums about writing or spelling have been able to command attention from thinking men. They write on these subjects with amusing confidence, and one would not in the least be surprised to find some amongst them prescribing mechanical plans for thinking, when the prevailing notions about the theory of the universe itself, partake so largely of the mechanical!

HORRIBLE MURDER NEAR FISH MARKET.

The following information of Jeejee, a married woman, who was cut and mutilated in a most frightful manner by one Mahdoo Benderkhur, a cart-driver on the 26th instant, in Bapdeo street, and who died the same night, was taken at the Jamsetjee Jejeebhoy Hospital by H. E. Leeke, Esq.

I am a married woman and live near Bapdeo, my husband's name is Pando, about two years ago my husband went to his native country at a village called Deo near Poona. This day about 12 o'clock noon I was cooking in my room, no one was present while I was cooking—one Mahdoo Benderkhur came into the room, and shut the door, and he then, struck me with a knife in my belly and on the left side of my neck and on the fingers of both my hands, he then ran away taking the knife with him. I laid down insensible on the ground. I was brought to the Jamsetjee Jejeebhoy Hospital in a palkee by a Constable. I have known the said Mahdoo for the last five or six years. I cannot account for his striking me with the knife ; he did not say anything before or after he struck me. I trust to chance whether I shall recover or not, I cannot say if I am in danger, perhaps I may recover, I wish the said Mahdoo to be apprehended and dealt with according to law. I have never been in his keeping, he used to drive a bullock cart, there is no reason for his striking me, he constantly visited me in my room, and no jealousy existed between us, no one came to visit me besides him, I was supported by my parents.

A Coroner's jury was called to enquire into the above, when the only evidence to be obtained was that of a neighbour, and of two women who saw Mhadeo, the alleged murderer, leave the house with a knife in his hand—and as he came towards them he cried out for them to get out of his way or he would serve them in the same he had served Jeejee—The neighbours stated that hearing a quarrel, and afterwards a scuffle in the room of deceased, he ran off to inform her parents, on his return with them they found deceased had been taken to the hospital.

The Coroner's inquest was adjourned for further evidence, up to the time of our going to press the murderer was still at large.

ST. ANDREW'S LIBRARY, SURAT.

THE annual General Meeting of the friends and subscribers to the Andrew's Library, was held in the large room of that Institution on Tuesday the 1st instant, our able and excellent Judge, Mr. Pinhey, presided on the occasion and several other European Gentlemen also honored the Meeting with their presence. The attendance of Native gentry was also larger than for some years past. The Report was read by the Secretary, the Rev. Robert Montgomery, in English, and afterwards by the Librarien in Gujarati. The funds of the Library seem to be in a flourishing condition ; the Secretary being able to announce a balance on hand at the present time of Rs. 700, and in illustration of the principle "to him that hath shall be given," a liberal Parsee Gentleman, Bairamji Manekji, there and then offered a donation of Rs. 150. This led to another offer also from a Parsee friend, Dr. Furdoonjee Jamsetjee, of Rs. 25, and lest the Zoroastrians should have the day all to themselves a Hindoo donor Dwarkadas Luloobhai, closed the list with another Rs. 25. I need not say that these offers were thankfully accepted. The Meeting was addressed by the President and by Dr. A. M. Rogers in English, and by Dr. Manekjee Cursetjee and the Secretary in Gujarati. All parties seemed to be well satisfied with the state and prospects of the Institution, except the Secretary, who, while not desirous of having less money or fewer books would like to see a larger amount of reading, and the results of it in more frequent lectures and essays. After the usual votes of thanks to the officers of the Library and to the Chairman for his kindness in presiding, the Meeting broke up.

The following is the Report for the year ended 30th June 1863.

Report of the Surat Andrew's Library in connection with the Surat Attavisee Literary Society for the year ending 30th June 1863.

In presenting this their thirteenth Annual Report, the Committee, abstaining from all vague generalities, call attention to the following facts and figures connected with the history of the Library during the past year.

1. The number of volumes added to the stock of books during the year is fifty-six of these thirty-three were purchased and paid for out of the funds of the Library, at an expense of Rs. 239-11-4 ; and 23 were presents from the following officers of Government and other official and private persons. The Director of Public Instruction, to whose continued kindness the Library is this year indebted for 11 of the presented volumes ; the Secretary of the Andrew's Library, the Librarian, the Secretary of the Bombay Geographical Society, Kavi Nurbuda Shunker Lalshunker, Rev. Dhunjeebhai Nowrojee, Kursundas Moolee and Dhirujram Dulputram, Esqs., the Committee offer their best thanks to all these Gentlemen for their valuable donations.

2. The number of subscribers of all classes at the end of the year was 108, showing a decrease as compared with the same period last year of 29. This decrease is mostly due to the removal from Surat of the Detachment of H. M. 33rd Regt. which furnished 15 third class subscribers, and of the Chief Engineer's office, and that of the Managing Agent of the B. B. and C. I. Railway. The Committee are persuaded that it does not arise from any general diminution of a taste for reading. At the same time it must be confessed that 108 subscribers to such an Institution as the Andrew's Library in a city like Surat, is a very small number, and shows how much the desire for knowledge requires to be cherished and stimulated especially amongst the natives. Several of the new books lately purchased for the Library are highly interesting and instructive, and at the same time popular in style. But the Committee regret to say that very few of them have been taken out ; notwithstanding the cry for new books, not long since raised by some of our friends.

3. The income of the Library for the year from subscriptions, interest on Government Notes, and other sources, exclusive of donations, was Rs. 760-4 which is less only by Rs. 9-5 than that of last year. The current expense, including subscriptions to magazines and newspapers, amounted to Rs. 734-5 leaving a balance of only Rs. 26-3-7 from the ordinary income of the year, for the purchase of new books. But we began the year with a balance on hand of Rs. 276-4 ; so that after paying for the books added by purchase during the year, there is still a balance on hand, from ordinary income, of Rs. 62-8-7. This balance includes an advance to Messrs. Chesson & Woodhall of Rs. 18-4 on account of books ordered. But it is clear from these figures that supposing the Library's income from subscriptions to continue about the same, as it has been for the last two years, and the same number of periodicals to be subscribed for, we must depend mainly on donations for the purchase of new books.

4. In connection with this point the Committee have much pleasure in directing attention to the very liberal aid they have received in donations during the past year ; it has been the good fortune of Surat within that period to be visited by several native Gentlemen whose hearts are as large as their princely means, and among their very numerous benefactions, which have secured for them the gratitude of hundreds of persons, and the still richer reward of knowing that they have lightened the pressure of many a grievous burden, and set agoing agencies which will prove a comfort and a benefit to generations yet unborn, the Andrew's Library came in for such a share as demands the warm thanks of all its friends. The late lamented Sir Jamsetjee Jejeebhai, Bart., was as is well known, a Vice-Patron of this society, and a liberal supporter of its Library, and his son, the Honourable Rustomjee Jamsetjee Jejeebhai, who would, we are sure, desire no higher praise than to have it said that he walks in the footsteps of his Venerable father, followed that worthy example, on his recent visit to our city, in presenting Rs. 300, as a donation to the Library's funds. His partner and fellow traveller also, Cursetjee Furdoonjee, Esq., a kindred spirit in liberality, added Rs. 200, to the gift ; making Rs. 500 in all from these two distinguished visitors. Nor are they the only donors whose aid the Committee have to acknowledge. Our warmest thanks are due also to Sorabjee Dossabhai and Nesserwanjee Manockjee, Esqrs., for a donation of Rs. 25 from each. With these donations the balance on hand for the improvement of the Library in the present year amounts to Rs. 612-8-7.

5. The number of English books taken out during the year was 1833 or nearly 153 per month ; and of vernacular books 71 or 6 monthly. These figures shew a decrease of 575 in the English issues due of course to the decrease of subscribers which has been explained in para 2 ; but an increase in the vernacular of 15. A rule of the Library, as is well known allows newspapers and periodicals to be taken out by first and second class subscribers after they have lain on the table of the Reading Room for four days. In conformity with this rule 1334 English and 580 vernacular newspapers and magazines, making a total of 1914, were taken out for perusal during the year, giving a monthly average of 111 English and 48 vernacular. From these figures it appears that there was a decrease in the number of English periodicals of 45 and of vernacular of 384. This considerable diminution of vernacular issues, under the above rule, the Committee believe, is owing to the fact that more of their native friends than formerly are themselves subscribers to these periodicals. If this be the case, the decrease must be mentioned not with regret but with pleasure, as indicating such a growth of the taste for reading as makes the reader willing to pay for its gratification. This result of the Establishment of the Andrew Library, the Committee hopes to see becoming much more general,

BOMBAY POLICE INTELLIGENCE.

FORT POLICE OFFICE.

Monday, 28th September.

Drunk and Disorderly.—George Davies was charged with being drunk in Marine Street on Sunday, a policeman saw him throwing stones at the passers by, and on going up to him, the prisoner kicked and struck him, the policeman's evidence being corroborated by a witness, the prisoner was fined five Rupees.

Diseased Animals for Food.—Issoo Wittoo was charged by Mr. J. Watson, Inspector of Markets, with having brought to the slaughter house yard at Boree Bunder, two diseased sheep. Mr. Watson stated that the prisoner brought the sheep to the yard in baskets on the heads of two coolies, one of the sheep died five minutes after being taken from the basket, the other died this morning; this evidence was confirmed by the overseer of markets No. 1, the prisoner had nothing to say and his Worship fined him in the sum of Rupees ten.

Juvenile Gamblers.—Four Parsee lads named Dinshaw Nowrojee, Cursetjee Dinshaw, Fuckerjee Dorabjee, and Bomonjee Cawasjee, were charged with gambling with dice and money on the Moodikhana Bunder on Saturday last. A policeman stated he found the prisoners sitting in a circle playing with dice and money, and produced them in court, the prisoners stated they were sitting talking together when the policemen threw the dice and money on the ground, and then arrested them, as the prisoners had been in custody since Saturday his Worship discharged them with a caution. The money found was ordered to be placed in the poor box, and the dice distroyed.

Drunk and assaulting a Policeman—Henry Russell and John Brown were charged with being drunk and assaulting Police Havildar No. 594 whilst in the execution of his duty.

The Havildar stated that on Sunday last at about half-past two in the afternoon the prisoners were drunk in Marine Street and throwing stones at people who were passing, while he sent to call a European Constable the first prisoner came up and struck him on the face, the second prisoner then seized him by the right hand, threw him down, and both struck him when down, Mr. Butters shortly after came and seized them. This evidence was confirmed by policeman No. 165.

Prisoners denied being drunk but were quietly walking on the road. Russell said all he remembered was having an altercation with a buggywallah and receiving a blow on the head which rendered him senseless. They were fined Rupees five each.

THIRD CRIMINAL SESSIONS OF 1863.

Third day, Saturday, 28th Sept.

(Before the Hon'ble Chief Justice, Sir M. Sausse, Kt.)

His Lordship having taken his seat on the Bench precisely at ten A.M., the following gentlemen were empannelled to serve on the MORNING JURY.

Mr. Jeremiah Lodge,—Foreman.

Messrs. A. C. Thornhill, J. Dixon, R. L. Crawford, D. Fletcher, H. Hall, W. Natchell, H. Beaumont, A. De Souza, Framjee Sorabjee, Nanabhoy Sadashivjee, and Shaboodin Wagmaray.

Criminal Intimidation.—William Robert Jones, a European seaman, was arraigned on an indictment for criminal intimidation in having threatened Captain William Hayman, Shipping Master, with bodily injury. Prisoner pleaded not guilty.

Mr. Barton, on behalf of Captain Hayman, applied to withdraw the prosecution, and asked the Court to deal leniently with the prisoner, who had expressed deep contrition for the offence. The learned Counsel stated that at the time the prisoner created the disturbance, he was labouring under excitement caused by his having been left penniless after his ship had sailed, and that he was also under the influence of liquor.

His Lordship said that the application seemed to be inconsistent with the prisoner's plea which denied the charge.

On Mr Barton's suggestion, the prisoner withdrew his plea of "not guilty" and pleaded guilty.

His Lordship then addressed the prisoner saying that he had pleaded guilty to the offence of criminal intimidation in having threatened Captain Hayman with bodily injury. Captain Hayman had asked the Court to deal leniently with him (prisoner) on the ground that he was excited to an unusual degree; and offered in extenuation the circumstance, which was also in evidence, that he was in liquor at the time. Prisoner being in liquor was no extenuation of his crime; it was his own voluntary act. Having looked at the depositions, and taken into account the representation made by Captain Hayman, His Lordship was of opinion that the ends of justice would be satisfied by the imprisonment which prisoner had already suffered, and which was a sufficient atonement for the offence, and that no judgment would be passed upon him except that he would be called upon to enter into his own recognisance to appear, when required, on a day's notice. If the prisoner behaved himself peaceably, he would not be called upon to appear, but if, either by language or act, he exhibited conduct to the contrary towards Captain Hayman in particular, he would be called before the Court and would receive a heavy sentence. His Lordship, therefore, made the order that the prisoner be discharged upon his own recognisances to appear on one day's notice when required, to receive Judgment for the charge to which he had pleaded guilty.

Forgery.—Crustnajee Wishwanath, a Mahratta, pleaded not guilty to an indictment for using as genuine a forged Currency Note for Rs. 100, knowing it to be forged.

Ramajee Wagojee stated, that the prisoner came to his shop on the 11th of August to purchase gold. Prisoner made no purchase that day, but on the following day, he bought six tolas of gold, and tendered a Currency Note purporting to be for Rs. 100, in payment of the value. Prosecutor suspected the Note to be forged, it appearing to be a ten-Rupees note altered to represent a hundred-Rupee one. He sent for a policeman, and gave the prisoner into his custody.

Appa Ballajee, a workman employed in the prosecutor's shop, remembered the prisoner purchasing six tolas of gold from the shop and offering a note for Rs. 100 for the value.

Pandurung Bhawoo, clerk in the Civil Paymaster's Office, remembered seeing the prisoner at the prosecutors's shop. The prosecutor shewed witness a note for Rs. 100, which he said was given to him by the prisoner. It was a false note. The appearance of the note was such as any person looking at it without close examination, would be deceived.

Policeman No. 184, deposed to having taken the prisoner into custody. The note was handed to witness by prisoner who alleged that it had been given to him by another man.

Constable Mills said the prisoner was brought to him by the last witness, with the note. Prisoner admitted having tendered the note to prosecutor, and mentioned the names of two or three persons from whom he said he had got the note. Prisoner's house was searched, but no forged notes were discovered.

Hurrichund Natoba, a clerk in the Mint, examined the note before the Court, which he found to be a genuine ten-Rupee note altered to hundred-Rupee one. It was a clumsy forgery.

Prisoner, in his defence, alleged that he had tendered a genuine Note to the prosecutor, who, however, immediately substituted a false one which was in his possession and then accused him of offering a bad note.

The Jury having found the prisoner guilty, he was sentenced to be kept in rigorous confinement for a period of three years.

Theft.—Bullouch Moosakhan pleaded not guilty to a charge of theft.

Narayen Ramchunder said that on the evening of the 25th of August, he had in his pocket a bar of gold weighing twenty tolas, eight rupees in silver, and some copper money tied up in a handkerchief. The prisoner was standing by his side. Witness felt his pocket light, and saw his handkerchief in the prisoner's hand. He thereupon gave an alarm, and the prisoner was arrested with the missing property in his possession.

Fakeer Mahomed, a detective policeman, saw the prisoner put his hand into the prosecutor's pocket and take out a handkerchief. He thereupon immediately seized the prisoner.

Prisoner simply denied the charge.

The Jury returned a verdict of guilty. Prisoner being an old offender, having been nine times in jail on previous convictions for similar offences, he was sentenced to undergo rigorous imprisonment for eighteen months.

Theft.—Gungaram Jaitha pleaded not guilty to an indictment for theft in a dwelling house.

Gunga woman stated, that she saw her ornaments safe in a box in her room on a Wednesday morning when she went out to bathe, leaving prisoner in charge of the room. The prisoner was sitting in the room when she returned; and afterwards left the house. On the following Friday she having occasion to wear her ornaments, the box was opened and a gold necklace was missing. The loss was reported to the police, and the ornament was traced to the shop of a Marwaree pawn-broker. Witness had been previously a kept mistress of the prisoner.

Motee Hurchund, a pawn-broker, said that the necklace was pledged with him by prisoner on a Wednesday, and he gave it up to the police who called for it on Friday. Witness had advanced Rs. 80 to the prisoner.

Police Naique No. 844, took the prisoner into custody on the 17th July. Prisoner took him to the shop of the last witness who gave up the necklace.

Prisoner alleged in his defence that the necklace was given to him by the prosecutrix to raise money upon it, and that he pawned it for Rs. 80 which he gave to her.

The Jury retired into their room for deliberation, and after the lapse of about twenty minutes, returned with a verdict of "Guilty."

Prisoner was sentenced to be kept in rigorous confinement for twelve months in the House of Correction.

Theft.—Jerome Burgas, a Goanese, was charged with theft in a dwelling-house. He pleaded not guilty.

Francis Fernand stated, that about a fortnight ago, prisoner came to his house to reside with him. He had in his box a watch and chain, a shirt, and Rs. 140 in cash, which he saw safe that day. The following morning he missed the box with its contents, and the prisoner, who was last seen at nine o'clock in the night, had also absconded. A policeman said that while he was on duty at Dhobee Talao, he saw the prisoner going along the road with the box under his arm, at four o'clock in the morning, and he challenged him. Prisoner said that he had Rs. 25 in the box, but on a search being made by the witness, a shirt and Rs. 84 were found in the box and the watch was in the prisoner's pocket. Witness thereupon took prisoner into custody.

Prisoner was found guilty and sentenced to undergo rigorous imprisonment for twelve months in the House of Correction.

Theft.—Thomas McPhearson, an European seaman, pleaded guilty to a charge of theft in a dwelling-house. His Lordship said that the prisoner appeared to be a seaman, and it was very much to be regretted that he did not follow an honest course of life. Prisoner had been released from jail only a few days, when he had the audacity again to break into a house by night and commit robbery of a large quantity of property. The sentence was that prisoner be kept in rigorous inprisonment for eighteen months.

Theft and escape from Custody.—Ameer Alibhoy pleaded guilty to an indictment for house-breaking by night and theft, and to another indictment for escaping from lawful custody. His Lordship in sentencing the prisoner said that the latter made his escape from the jail before his trial was to come off. Prisoner would have been tried with two other persons who were his comrades, and who were sentenced for that offence to undergo rigorous imprisonment for three years. The sentence upon the prisoner should be the same, viz., three years' rigorous imprisonment, and in addition to further rigorous imprisonment for three months for escaping from lawful custody.

Stealing from Person.—Jogoo Dawoo pleaded guilty to an indictment for stealing property from the person of a child. He was sentenced to undergo nine months rigorous imprisonment.

AFTERNOON JURY.

Messrs. C. E. Brain, G. W. Burnell, C. Banks, J. McMeekin, G. Gahagan, R. Cutler, W. Turner, L. De Cruz, Cawasjee Nesserwanjee, Crustnarow Ramchunderjee, and Goolam Hoosein Choorgay.

Theft.—Edaljee Framjee and Bomonjee Jamsetjee, were arraigned on an indictment charging the former with theft, and the latter with receiving stolen property. They severally pleaded not guilty.

Mr. Cooper prosecuted.

Mr. Barton defended the second prisoner.

Mr. Cumroodin Tyebjee, a solicitor of the High Court, said that on the 24th of August last at eleven o'clock in the morning, he saw safe in his room a gold watch and chain, a diamond ring, a ruby ring, and a sapphire ring when he went to office. On his return home in the evening he missed these articles. He identified the chain and two rings before the Court as his property. The room is on the ground-floor, and the window-curtain appeared to have been cut, shewing that a person or persons had got into the room through the window which looks into the compound.

Sapoorjee Nesserwanjee, a liquor shopkeeper, knew the prisoner Edaljee. On the 24th August at one o'clock in the afternoon, Edaljee shewed him a gold watch with chain attached to it—a chain like the one produced before the Court, and asked him what their value was. Witness could not tell their value, and the prisoner then left the shop.

Dorabjee Anderjee, a cook, knew the prisoners. On the 24th August at five o'clock in the afternoon, he saw the prisoners in the shop of the second prisoner who sells liquor. Prisoner Edaljee brought a watch and two rings with him, which he had concealed in his umbrella and handed them to Bomonjee. Immediately afterwards Bomonjee paid Rs. 10 to Edaljee, and both prisoners then went away together. On the following day, witness saw the prisoner Edaljee in charge of the police. He was also arrested the same day, and he saw Edaljee at the Police chowkey. The Duffedar questioned them both as to the robbery, and Edaljee deined all knowledge of the matter, while witness related what he had seen in Bomonjee's shop. They then went to Bomonjee's house, and asked him to produce the watch and rings. Bomanjee at first denied having any of these articles, but afterwards took them to the shop of a Marwaree with whom he said a ring had been pawned for Rs. 10. The Marwarree produced the ring. They then returned to Bomanjee's house with the ring, and on further questioning Bomanjee produced another ring and remains of a gold watch.

Dulba Bhicka, a pawnbroker, said that on the 24th August last both the prisoners came to his shop, and Bomanjee pawned a ring with him for Rs. 10. He delivered the ring afterwards to the police who called for it.

Framjee Shapoorjee, a watchmaker, knew Bomonjee. On the 25th August about four in the afternoon Bomonjee came to witness' shop in order to have a watch repaired. Bomanjee produced a gold watch with a chain attached to it, and asked witness to repair it immediately, which witness said he was unable to do for press of other work. Bomanjee then offered to sell the watch saying he was in need of money, and asked witness to find a customer for it. Witness took him to a goldsmith to whom Bomanjee sold the gold case for Rs. 37, and gave the works of the watch to witness to fit them into a silver case. The following day the police called for the watch, and witness gave up the works to them. The police also went to the goldsmith who said that he had melted the gold case, and he produced two pieces of gold.

The goldsmith and the Police Duffedar corroborated the foregoing evidence.

Mr. Barton, in defence of the second prisoner, urged that the evidence of the policeman and the cook and the watchmaker was suspicious and quite unworthy of credit. He admitted the pawning of the ring by the prisoner, which was done without any guilty knowledge; but he denied the transaction relating to the watch which was not satisfactorily traced to the possession of the prisoner. The circumstances of the case were quite as consistent with his innocence as with his alleged; and there was a total absence of proof that prisoner was a guilty participator in the robbery.

The first prisoner had nothing to say in defence.

His Lordship having summed up the evidence at great length, the Jury retired into their room for deliberation and returned after about half an hour with a verdict of "guilty" against the prisoner Edaljee, and not "guilty" for the prisoner Bomonjee.

The prisoner Edaljee, having been twice in jail on previous convictions, he was sentenced to be kept in rigorous imprisonment for eighteen months. The prisoner Bomonjee was discharged with a salutary warning.

Theft in a Vessel.—Shaik Mahomed and five other boatmen pleaded guilty to an indictment for theft of property which had been entrusted to them for safe conveyance in their boat to a ship in the harbour. His Lordship sentenced the tindal, Mahomed Hussein, to undergo rigorous imprisonment for nine months, and the others severally for six months.

The Court adjourned at 7½ P.M.

SMALL CAUSE COURT.

Monday, 28th September 1863.

(Before J. F. Hore, Esq.)

Thomas Hayes, Master of the Ship Celuta vs. Pestonjee Bazonjee.

Mr. Manisty for the defendant.

Mr. Barton said that this was an action to recover the sum of Rs. 150, being the amount of damages sustained by plaintiff, by reason of the negligence and carelessness of the defendant's groom. It appeared that on Saturday the 5th instant, the defendant's gorawalla by order of his master took his horse to Messrs. Bennett and Co., the Auctioneers. At about 1 P.M. of that day the plaintiff while going along Meadow Street, came in contact with the animal, and as he was going to jump over a pool of water, the animal turned round and kicked the plaintiff, by which his hip was put out of joint, whereby he was made unable to attend his business, and compelled to incur expenses to cure the part affected. Mr. Barton contended that the horse was vicious, and immediately before Captain Hayes coming, he kicked out several other people. Mr. Manisty contended for the defendant that the animal was not vicious but on the contrary was very quite. The evidence on both sides was heard from which it appeared distinctly that the defendant was kicked, but no one proved to the satisfaction of the Court as to the vicious propensities of the horse.

His Honor said the question in this case was whether the damage complained of was the result of pure accident, on whether it was attributable to the negligence of the defendant, in allowing his servants to lead a vicious horse along a public road. In the latter case, as it was admitted that the servants were leading the horse along the street in the prosecution of their usual duty, the plaintiff could be entitled to recover damages against the defendant as their master, in the former he would be entirely exempted from liability. The important questions therefore into which a case of this kind usually resolved inself were in addition to the question as to the immediate cause of damage, whether the horse was vicious, and whether, if so, the defendant was aware of that fact. The gists of the action was the defendant's scienter of the animals vicious propensities. The plaintiff failed to prove the scienter. Verdict for the defendant with leave for the plaintiff to move for a non-suit, if it could be proved that in actions of this kind a scienter could not be proved.

POONA.

On Wednesday night last, between the hours of 10 and 11 o'clock, a daring attempt at house-breaking was committed at His Excellency the Commander-in-Chief's Bungalow by two Europeans, one a private of the 6th Inniskilling Dragoon's and another a sailor looking man who by his own account has but just left the Bombay Jail; the fellows were seen as early as 9 o'clock loitering about the premises, and after being rather suspiciously stared at by one of the servants, the latter was challenged by them in an authoritatively manner, as to when they were going to get the answer to a letter they had sent in, to which the servant gave an evasive reply and passed on. About half past ten o'clock, Captain Jervis was aroused by a hamaul telling him that there was some one trying to get into the childern's apartment, which is just below to His Excellency's sitting apartment, and without delay he hurried round and was in time to catch the rascals in the act of breaking open one of the windows, without a moments hesitation, he felled the nearest to him at a blow and then turning round in the like manner settled the other. By this time the guard came up and they were pinioned. It is apparent that these fellows must be tried hands, and we should suggest to Mr. James Hunt, to enquire for his clock and gold watch in the possession of these fellows. One of them is in the safe custody of the city police, and the other (the soldier) is now in the Quarter guard of the General Depot, awaiting enquiry.—Observer, Sept. 28.

SIND.

Valedictory.—The Reverend Duncan Macpherson, the first Scottish Chaplain appointed by Government to the station of Kurrachee, is about to leave his congregation by the Mail steamer on Friday next, for Poona, after a residence here of eighteen months. During that period he has been the means of effecting a great amount of good amongst those belonging to the Presbyterian denomination, and more particularly amongst the soldiers of the garrison.

Possessed of a most unassuming disposition, combined with a mildness of temper which enlisted the sympathies of all with whom he was brought in contact, he readily managed to win the affections of his congregation, and gain the confidence of the military population of Kurrachee.

His departure is consequently much regretted, and the best wishes and prayers of his flock follow him to the scene of new operations. He is to be succeeded here by the Reverend J. Middleton who is expected to arrive about three week hence. In the interval we believe the elders of the Scotch church will officiate in their turns.—Our Paper (Kurrachee), Sept. 22.

We understand that Lieutenant Griffith has taken charge of his duties as Supernumerary Duputy Collector, in room of Mr. Boulton who proceeds to Hydrabad as Acting Session Judge.

Mr. C. A. Middleton, we are happy to hear, has been permanently appointed Session Judge of Kurrachee. He left England by the steamer of the 5th, and may soon be expected here.

Captain LeMesurier, R. E., has gone to Shikarpore to resume charge of his appointment in Upper Sind. It is believed that he is to be entrusted with the execution of extensive works at Sukkur.

It is currently rumoured that Mr. Ingle has been offered an appointment at Sudashewgur. We feel sure that this gentleman's departure from Kurrachee, where he has been since 1855, will be generally regretted.—Sindian, Sept 23.

We are glad that there is no truth in the rumour, prevalent sometime ago, that Mr. Mansfield was not likely to return to Sind in consequence of going into the Council. A private letter informs us that Messrs. W. E. Frere and J. D. Inverarity do not contemplate retiring for sometime yet. But should such a contingency happen and lead to Mr. Mansfield's transfer from among us, the European community of Kurrachee, whose members have met with the most courteous treatment at his hands, would have every reason to regret his departure. If the native classes have found the Commissioner severe in awarding punishment to delinquents, in order to repress dishonest practices among subordinate officials, every right thinking man among them must admit the justness of these punishments.—Id.

We stated in our last issue that the Rev. Mr Broadley, of the Wesleyan Mission, would be compelled to leave Kurrachee shortly in consequence of ill-health; and we have now to announce the departure of the Rev. Mr. MacPherson, Presbyterian Chaplain of this station, by the mail steamer to-morrow, en route to take up the appointment at Poona to which he has been transferred by order of Government. We understand from our Poona contemporaries that this step is not at all required—a circumstance which makes us doubly regret that it should have been adopted, as Mr. MacPherson has rendered himself very useful in Kurrachee. We take this opportunity of stating also that the Rev. Mr Holbeck, lately connected with the Church of England Mission here, has proceeded to Jooneer to relieve a gentleman whose ill-health has compelled him to go home. We are sorry to add also that the Rev. Mr. Matchett, recently in Kotree, has likewise been obliged to take his departure for England in consequence of failing health.—Id.

MADRAS.

We regret to learn that St. Andrews' Church was closed on Sunday last on account of the severe indisposition of the Chaplain. It appears that at this moment there is not another presbyterian clergyman in Madras from whom assistance could be obtained in such an emergent case. We observe that the Senior Chaplain in his report to Government recommends a considerable extension of operations, but these are made dependent on accessions to the clerical staff, both from without and within the establishment. There appears something like precipitation in carrying out one part of the proposed arrangements until the conditions are fulfilled upon which these are based. The consequence of this is a great inconvenience to the Chaplain as well as to a large portion of the community.—Times, Sept. 23.

OOTACAMUND.

The Chinchona.—We learn from Mr. McIvor's report for the month of August last, that there were 2,17,866 plants in the Government plantations on the 31st of that month. The variety most represented, was the Bonplandiana, of which there were 1,19,616. The next largest number was of the C. Succirubra of which there were 70,105. The relative value of the bark of these two kinds in the London market is from 2s. 10d. to 7s. the former, and from 2s. 6d. to 8s. 9d. the latter. The eleven plants put down by His Excellency the Governor and some other gentlemen, had grown during the month from 3 to 6 inches. Mr. McIvor observes, "The month being one of almost continuous rain, the earth was too wet for planting operations, and consequently only 1,172 plants were permanently planted out. A heavy storm on the nights of the 12th and 13th almost destroyed 70 plants, and seriously broke or damaged 100 more—the species which suffered most being the red bark. Owing to the very wet weather, 23,856 plants intended for planting out permanently had to be transplanted into the nursery beds, where they will now have to remain until the first showers in March and April. The height of the largest plant at present is 9 feet 2 inches. The blossoms on the large plant in the conservatory are now fully expanded, and promise to mature its seeds, although the plant is only a little more than 2 years old. The 2 plants cut down on the 20th of March last for the bark submitted to Mr. Howard for analysis, have made fine strong shoots from 9 to 10 inches in height,"—Neilgherry Excelsior, Sept. 17.

BENGAL.

Letters received yesterday from Cawnpore announce the re appearance of cholera in her Majesty's 46th Regiment at that station, and that, in consequence, the corps was again ordered out of barracks, and under canvass, during the prevalence of the disease.—Englishmam, Sept 18.

THE COMMANDER-IN-CHIEF AND HIS PETS.

The following is an extrct from a letter dated Calcutta 13th September 1863:—"I dare say you have not heard the reason Sir Mordaunt Wells did not give the full damages claimed by Colonel Burney

The facts are these. Colonel Burney heard by some round about that Captain Eyre had gone from India with the promise on the part of Colonel Willis to pay all damages, and one from Sir Hugh Rose to pay all damages!!! Colonel Burney has never had, and has not now, any ill-feeling towards Colonel and Mrs. Willis, as he well knows all that has been said and done against him, was not done by their wish or consent—he therefore did not wish that Colonel Willis should have to pay heavy damages. He therefore instructed Mr. Bell not to press for heavy damages but to get the highest scale of costs he could. Hence the judgment of Rs. 2,000 damages and highest scale of costs. It is not believed that Mr. Newmarch was told of these agreements by Captain Eyre. Query, will the Commander-in-Chief ask Government to pay cost and damages? or has he already done so?

The above comes to us from a gentleman of some position in society; but we fancy he speaks only upon "hearsay evidence." We shall be obliged if His Excellency, the Commmander-in-Chief, would, through some gentleman on the Staff, give us an opportunity of stating that the "facts" are not facts. We do not believe it probable that Sir Hugh Rose made Captain Eyre any such promise to pay damages and costs.

According to the evidence, on the trial, the Commander-in-Chief knew nothing of Eyre. Had His Excellency known him, he would scarcely have asked another officer, who is he?

That Sir Hugh Rose acted foolishly in this Burney business, and that his evidence was "not satisfactory," there can be no doubt, but we cling to the belief that His Excellency was not such a fool as to have made any such promise as that alleged. However, as this report will find its way into the Home newspapers, we should like to have the word of some gentleman on His Exchllency's Staff, that it is not true that Sir Hugh Rose made Captain Eyre any promises whatever in the matter.

If the charge made against the Commander-in-Chief be true, it will, indeed, become a very serious affair.—Mofussilite, Sept. 22.

CENTRAL ASIA.

Cabul, (14 Rubbee-ool awal,) 30*th August*.—"Meer Akhore Ahmed Khan, who had gone to the Ameer's camp, returned to-day and informed Sirdar Mohamed Allee Khan, that Ameer Shere Allee after swearing all the chiefs of his camp on the Kooran at Ghuznee, had marched for Zoormut, and desired him, the Meer Akhoor to go to Cabul and prepare Khilluts.

31*st August*.—The following letter in reply to Sirdar Mohamed Ufzul Khan's was sent by Sirdar Mohamed Allee Khan:—

"The reason why Mirza Abd. Khan was put into custody, was that he knowing very well that Sirdar Mohamed Auzim Khan had fled from the Ameer's camp had against his (Mohamed Allee Khan's) order sent ammunition to Mohamed Auzim Khan, I have now as requested by you, released the Mirza and removed guards who were merely put on your house to watch, nothing else."

1*st September*.—The property of Sirdar Futteh Mohamed Khan arrived here to-day, and was ordered by Mohamed Allee Khan to be forwarded to Charkar.

2*nd September*.—The undermentioned letter from Sirdar Mohamed Auzim Khan was received by the wife of Sirdar Mohamed Ufzul Khan:—

"Having heard nothing from Sirdar Ufzul Khan for a long time, I hasten to inform you that Ameer Shere Allee Khan is marching on my territory from Ghuznee and is resolved to fight. As it is not yet too late, please write to Sirdar Mohamed Ufzul Khan, not to lose time in sending troops to my aid from Bulkh."

3*rd September*.—Sirdar Mohamed Allee Khan was in the Durbar when a letter from Ursala Khan from Loohoogur was received. It was stated in the letter that shortly Sirdar Mohamed Auzim Khan was going to make up with Ameer Shere Allee Khan, as arrangements to that effect are going on both sides.

4*th September*—A person arrived from Bulkh and gave the following news: "About eight thousand troops under Sirdars Mohamed Zaman Khan, and Ubdoolrahman Khan and Neaz Mohamed Khan Ghilzaie, had marched from Takhta Bool, and had arrived at Kotul Saloo Lung. The above named Sirdars were saying that they were going to Saikh Allee to suppress the rebellion there, but their real object was not known." The man also stated that Sirdar Futteh Mohamed Khan was making arrangements to send some troops from Charkar towards Saloo Lung.

5*th September*.—Mohamed Kurreem Khan, the Paishkhidmut of Sirdar Mohamed Allee Khan, who with a letter had been sent to the Ameer's camp, returned today and handed over to Mohamed Allee Khan, Ameer Shere Allee Khan's letter. The moment Mohamed Allee Khan opened and perused the Ameer's letter, he ordered eleven guns to be fired as a salute for friendly terms having been ratified between Ameer Shere Allee Khan and Sirdar Mohamed Auzim Khan.

The contents of the letter was as follows:—

"After first Sirdar Mohamed Oosman Khan, and Meer Ufzul were sent to Sirdar Auzim Khan to persuade him to give up his hostile ideas, and when the above named Sirdar failed to overcome Sirdar Mohamed Auzim Khan's reasonings, Sirdar Noor Mohamed Khan and others were deputed to Auzim Khan who having succeeded in advising Auzim Khan, brought him into camp. I received Auzim Khan very kindly and presented him the famous and valuable horse of Sirdar Shahnawaz Khan which had fallen into our hands on the capture of Herat. Sirdar Mohamed Auzim Khan by my own request has gone towards Koorum and Khoost to see the rebellion suppressed there, while Sirdar Mohamed Surwar Khan his son is to accompany my camp to Cabul. I will be in Cabul on Wednesday, the 24th Rubbee-ool-awal."

It is said that in consequence of not receiving any aid from Sirdar Mohamed Ufzul Khan, Sirdar Mohamed Auzim Khan has been compelled to make up with the Ameer, otherwise his intention was to fight to the last.

6*th September*.—About fifty loads of muskmelons were ordered by Mohamed Khan to be sent to the Ameer's camp. Preparations are going on for the reception of Ameer Shere Allee Khan.

7*th Sptember*.—Ahmed Allee Khan, Paishkhidmut with a letter was sent by Sirdar Mohamed Allee Khan to the Ameer, requesting him to let him, Mohamed Allee Khan, know, when he was to leave Cabul to receive the Ameer. It was stated in a letter received from Uskur Khan Koorut from Mushhed that he after fighting with the Turcoomans on the road had reached Mushed, and was very kindly received by Shahzada Hissamool Sultaunt, the ruler of that place.

Sirdar Mohamed Suddeek Khan was ordered by Sirdar Mohamed Allee Khan to go home or to be released.

8*th September*.—Ahmed Allee Khan, Paishkhidmut with the undermentioned letter returned from the Ameer's camp:—

"I will be in Cabul to-morrow, about twelve. Come out to receive me with a few sowars, and let Sirdar Suddeek Khan and Uttaoolla Khan go home."

Sirdar Mohamed Allee Khan ordered his Nazir to commence getting good provisions cooked, as all the Sirdars accompanying the Ameer will take their breakfast in Bala Hissar.

9*th September*.—Ameer Shere Allee Khan accompained by all the Sirdars and troops arrived in Cabul to-day. First of all the infantry, marched into the city, then came the artillery, and after that Sirdars Shumshooddeen Khan and Nuzzur Mohamed Khan with some sowars. The above named Sirdars did not go to the Bala Hissar, but to their homes, and so the people have it that they are not very well pleased with Shere Allee Khan. Sirdar Mohamed. Allee Khan with one hundred sowars and with his staff then marched into the city. After this Ameer Shere Allee Khan on an elephant, having Sirdar Sooltan Allee Khan behind was very heartily received by the Cabulees. The Ameer had his youngest daughter with him in the Howda. Two other elephants with Sirdar Meer Ufzul Khan and Ghoolam Mohayood-deen Khan Candaharee and others were accompanying him. Sirdar Mohamed Surwar Khan, was accompanying the Ameer on horseback.

The Ameer thus accompanied by all the Sirdars went direct to the Bala Hissar. At first the Ameer sat down on the mourning carpet, which was spread, and after the Fataha was read by the Sirdars, the carpet was removed, and they all commenced offering congratulations for his succeeding to the throne of Cabul. Forty-two guns were ordered by the Ameer to be fired as a salute on this occasion.

The Ameer turning towards Sirdar Mohamed Allee Khan, said "you had better order your troops encamped under the Bala Hissar to march to Mazung on the Heart road, and get yourself ready to accompany them, as you are appointed Governor of Heart." On the Ameer's going in to the Seraglio, there was again crying and lamentations for the late Ameer's loss. Thursday Friday and Saturday, have been fixed by the Ameer to receive the chiefs to read the Fataha."—Delhi Gazette, Sept. 23.

THE BURNING OF CAMPDEN HOUSE.

(Home News, Sept. 3.)

The present year has been fertile in causes celebres, and amongst them none created greater interest than the case of "Woolley v. the Sun Insurance Office," which has just been tried at the Croydon Assizes. This remarkable trial occupied five days, having been begun on the 25th August, and not having terminated till the evening of the 29th. The case was one of extraordinary interest to the public, and of immense importance to the parties concerned, since it involved a charge against a gentleman, apparently of good position and inhabiting an ancient mansion, of having wilfully set fire to his house with a view to defraud insurance companies with wich he had effected polices on the house, its fittings, and its furniture. The magnitude and complication of the questions at issue cannot be clearly comprehended, without some preliminary history of the house itself, of the insurances effected upon it, and of its inmates at the time of the fire.

Those who are acquainted with what Leigh Hunt called the "Court suburb," Kensington, may remember the old mansion which gave its name to "Campden-hill," deriving its own from the title of its founder, Sir Baptist Hicks, who in the reign of James I. was created Viscount Campden. It was belived to have been built in 1612 or thereabouts, and was therefore about 250 years old. It was built in the old style, spacious and broad, but low, and was of only two stories, though containing not less than 30 rooms, and is described as "a very noble pile and finished with all the art the architects of that time were masters of." At the beginning of the last century it had become the residence of royalty. The Princess Anne lived there in the reign of William III., and added to it a building called "Little Campen-house," which was in close contiguity to Campden-house, and communicated with it on one side; but had latterly become a separate and distinct dwelling, and at the time of the fire was inhabited by the late Mr. Egg, the artist. In the present century the mansion and estate had come into the hands of the Pitt family, by whom the estate was leased to some builders, who covered the surrounding land with new houses. In 1847 Mr. Woolley entered into an agreement for a lease of the mansion, and soon afterwards went to reside there. The mansion was rather dilapidated, and required extensive repairs; and in 1854 he took a lease from the Pitt family for 99 years, with covenants to repair, to rebuild, and to insure. After Mr. Woolley took possession, repairs were done, more or less under the superintendence of one Temple, who it will be seen was with his wife and son in the house from that time down to the time of the fire.

Few who knew anything of London society during the last ten years were ignorant of the name of Mr. Woolley. There was no more fashionable resort than Campden-house. The small theatre and spacious ballroom which it contained afforded peculiar facilities for large entertainments, whilst good nature or ambition constantly induced the propietor to place his house at the service of the charitable public or of his private friends. In ordinary cases of course the expense was entirely defrayed by Mr. Woolley, but where charity was the object it depended upon the wealth of the institution whether Mr. Woolley or the charity funds should pay for the gas or the refreshments or both. The origin of Mr. Woolley is a little mysterious. Before he was 25 he must have been a clerk, translator of French, a member of a dramatic company, and a familiar friend of the well-known Mr. Raggett, if not a waiter or man-of-all-work in his employment. But fortunately he fell in with a Miss Coape, who had £35,000, and he married her. Property of his own he had none, except a house in Curzon-street, which he had previously sold; but he had a passion for society, furniture, and the fine arts, and no sooner was he married than he began to indulge it. He obtained possession of Campden-house, which was admirably fitted for embellishment, and not the less so because it was a little dilapidated. With his wife's fortune and the aid of her sister, who also possessed a fortune of £35,000, he converted the old house into a palace. He ransacked all the curiosity shops, he bought all sorts of pictures and curious china, and indeed on one occasion he actually purchased an estate in Essex, in order to take out a quantity of ancient carved wood which he fitted up in his new house. This estate, after he had taken from it what he wanted, was sold at loss of £400. He kept his own carpenter, Temple, and his carver and gilder, Timbrell, in his own house, and it is said that not less than £50,000 had been expended in ornamenting this residence. In short, Mr. Woolley was a rococo enthusiast, and inspired others with the same passion. He not only spent his time in selecting various articles of furniture, but himself, his sister-in-law, Miss Coape, his brother-in-law, Captain Coape, and his butler Crozier, spent their time in varnishing the carved wood, mending the tapestry, and polishing the sideboards. Devotion to art and social life never fails to obtain its reward even in this country; and therefore it is not surprising that even the Duchess of Cambridge should have condescended to cross Mr. Woolley's threshold, or that the notorious Colonel Waugh should have thought it judicious to step into Mr. Woolley's place when he retired for a season, and and carry on the same splendid round of festivities.

It is necessary now to describe the positson of the house, so that the narrative of the fire may be the better understood. It stood in a square inclosure, incompassed on every side by brick walls, the principal entrance, with large iron gates, being on south side, and its western side or end abutting upon Little Campden-house, with which there was communication. The enclosure was surrounded on all sides by rows of houses. The chief entrance faced the iron gates, which formed the principal external entrance to the enclosure; and there were here a hall and corridors. Then there was the library and dinning room; there was a room called "the green room;" there was the "Gothic passage;" there was the "large corridor." Then there were, upstairs, the "boudoir, the drawing-room, and ante-room," and the "long gallery or ball-room." There were also the "Terrace, or Globe-room," and the "Lower Terrace-room;" and then there were the bed-rooms—namely, the carved oak bed-room, the dressing room, the green and gold bed-room, the blue bed-room, the small oak bed-room, the large crimson bed-room, (Mr. Wooley's) the bed-room, adjoining the bath-room, the blue and white bed-room (Captain Coape's); and then there were the servants' rooms. The hall, leading to the corridor, went right through to the back of the house, where was the theatre; on the left of the hall—on the side next to and adjoining Mr. Egg's house, Little Campden-house, or the The Elms—were the offices, &c, and the housekeeper's and servants' rooms; on the right, were the library and the dinning-room, the latter opening into the theatre. In the centre of the hall or corridor there was the semicircular staircase leading up to the first floor, upon which were the music-room, the magnificent drawing-room, an apartment laterly used as a library, and an ante-room. In the second floor were the bed-rooms, as to which it is to be observed that Mr. Woolley's room was over the corridor, rather in the centre of the house, Crozier's the butler's, being near to his; and the Temples were in the servants' rooms, over the offices, on the side next to Little Campden-house on the left side of the mansion.

Such was the mansion of which Mr. Woolley became possessed in 1847 and the leasehold owner in 1854. He forthwith insured the house in the Sun-office for £2000 for the year ending Michaelmas 1855, which next year was increased in the same office to £4000; and, in April, 1854 (the house being then left by him for a year to Colonel Waugh(he cancelled this policy and had one substituted for £4500 on house and stables, which was one of the policies existing at the time of the fire and sued on in this action. Without entering into the details of these insurances, we find that he gradually increased them until, at the time of the fire, he had policies in the Sun, the Hand-in-Hand, and Atlas offices amounting upon the whole to £29,000. This sum was only sufficient to cover the cost of rebuilding the house, which could not be done under £12,000, and a sum of £17,000 which Mr. Woolley had borrowed from his sister-in-law, Miss Coape. All these policies expired at Christmas and Lady Day, and the fire took place on the morning of the 23rd of March, 1862. Immediately after the fire Mr. Woolley furnished an account of all the particulars concerning it to a printer to be published in the 'West London Observer,' a local paper, the accuracy of which was impugned on the trial by the defendants. He also employed a person to make a model of the house and premises. Sometime elapsed before Mr. Woolley sent in his claim to the insurance offices, and finally, after much discussion on both sides, the offices determined to resist the claim on the ground of fraud as to the value claimed, and also on the ground that Mr. Woolley had himself set fire to the house. To bring these charges to an issue Mr. Woolley entered actions against the companies, the first that was tried (by which, it is understood, all the rest are to be determined) being one for £4000 against the Sun.

As this case was known to be coming on at the Croydon Assizes on August 25, the court soon became very crowded. After considerable delay, the officers of the court were enabled to get 11 jurors, and the counsel on both sides consented to try with that number; one, however, of these pleaded earnestly to be let off, and the parties consented to try with the 10. They were accordingly sworn, and the case was formally called on, it being first ascertained that there were no shareholders in either of the three companies concerned. There are five actions altogether, three against the Sun, one against the Atlas, and one against the Hand-in-Hand.

Mr. Bovill, Q.C., and Mr. Serjeant Ballantine, with Mr. Henry James and Mr. Merewether (both specially retained), and Mr. Rosher were for the plaitiff, Mr. Lush, Q. C.; Mr. Denman, Q.C., and Mr. Garth were for the company. Mr. Woolley was in court, sitting behind his counsel. ~~The court was crowded by friends of~~ his and parties interested in the various polices which had been effected, and by others attracted by the extraordinary interest of the case.

The mass of the evidence, although it occupies a large space, does not in reality bear materially upon the real fact at issue. It serves little more than to show that Mr. Woolley was a great enthusiast about his house, that it was his hobby, and that he entertained largely. Miss Barker, Mrs. Gordon Smithies, a fashionable novelist, and other persons attested generally that the house was full of wood carving, pictures, and furniture, and the main feature of the plaintiffs' case went to show that the insurance were below, and not above, the value of the mansion and its contents. Passing over these particulars, we come to the circumstanial details relating to the fire.

In November, 1861, after rather a brilliant season at Campden-house, Mr. Woolley and his sister-in-law, with the housekeeper and servants, retired to a house they had at Brighton, removing plate &c., and all the various articles of daily family use. His valet, Crozier, always went with him whereever he went, and Temple, with his wife and son, were put into the house to take care of it. In the beginning of March Woolley and Crozier returned, and were engaged as they had been before they left, and as Temple had partly been while they were away, in varnishing the cravings and panellings. In the two or three weeks before the fire the walls were hung with sheets of wall paper or calico, the furniture gathered together in the centre of the rooms, the books removed from their shelves and set with their leaves open, tapestry was hung up at several of the windows, which had no curtains or blinds, and in all those preparations Mr. Woolley and Crozier personally and indeed principally acted. No workmen were employd. Thus things continued until the night of Saturday, the 22nd March, 1862. On that night Mr. Woolley and Crozier went to town to dine, and returned home about half-past 10. So much turns upon the local position of the house with reference to what was going on within being seen from without, that it is necessary to observe that the house was completely shut in from view on all sides except the front, facing the gates, where alone it was exposed to observation. It was on this front side of the house that the windows lay at which the tapestry was hung—at least at three of them, There was no dispute as to the fact of hanging the tapestry, or the time at which it was done, the week or so before the fire; and the two windows in the hall, on the same side of the house, on each side of the principal entrance, commanded by the open iron gates, were also darkened by something hung up round the hall, "looped up and passing over, though "looped up" at the windows.

About a quarter-past 11 Mr. Woolley and Crozier after having gone up to their bed-rooms both returned down-stairs, and met the Temples on the stairs, as they were going up to bed; and coming from the green-room, where they they had supped, and where Crozier had seen them at their supper. According to the account given by Mr. Woolley and Crozier, they had remembered that they had not put out the gas in the library and dining-room, which lay at the other end of the house on the ground floor; and Mrs. Temple said that she on going to bed saw a light in the dining-room—the light of gas burning. Mr. Woolley and Crozier stated in their evidence that they went towards the back premises; and then, while Mr. Woolley set on the foot of the main staircase, Crozier went to the back kitchen and shut up. In doing so, he said, he passed near the green-room—a room on the ground floor, towards the back, at the west-end—in which the Temples had been supping, and where, there had been a fire, and where, he said, he saw a light as of "gas burnt low." He had just passed the Temples going up to bed, so that he knew they could not be there. And he had been into the green-room while they were at supper, and saw that they had no one with them. It should be added that it was a sitting-room without a bed, and only a sofa. He stated, however, that he thought some one was sleeping there; and that he said so to Mr. Woolley at the time. Mr. Wooley did not mention that in examination, and Crozier, being asked why he thought any one was there, said that sometimes he had seen clothes on the sofa in the morning, as if some one had slept there. He did not, however, he said, either open the door or inquire of Temple, but went up with his master to bed, and there evidence was that until alarmed by the fire they neither of them went down again.

One Ellis, a small tradesman, residing hard by, who knew them both well, swore that he saw them as he was coming home about 2 in the morning, walking round at the back of the house towards a side entrance. He was proved by a respectable man named Cliff to have said he was "a little slewed," or "screwed" that night; but on the other hand, Cliff proved that Ellis told him a few days after the fire that he had seen Mr. Woolley and Crozier out on that night, as he came home. An attorney, who acted for Mr. Woolley, saw Ellis about this, and "cautioned him" that if Mr. Woolley and Crozier should swear the contrary, it would be a serious matter, and stated that Ellis told him he was 100 yards off and only saw their backs. This Ellis denied, but he stated that he had at first only seen their backs, because they were ahead of him, and that as they turned down Sheffield-terrace, they came in such a position that he was brought nearer to them, and that then they turned round to look at him and he saw their faces; and he did not deny that he said to Mr. James that he had first seen their backs, but that he said he had only seen their backs, and had never seen their faces. Such was the evidence on that point.

Mr. Woolley's evidence and that of Crozier, as to the particulars of the fire, mainly agreed. Mr. Woolley stated that he was awakened about 8 o'clock by a noise resembling the falling of a beam; that he got out of bed, and found the passage filled with smoke. His first impulse was to waken the Temples. He rushed down-stairs, then returned and knocked at Crozier's door, then rushed down again followed by Crozier, and succeeded in getting into the open air by forcing a back door. Presently Mrs. Temple appeared on a balcony, and he implored her to remain until help could be obtained; but she threw herself down and was severely injured. Her son who was with her, waited till a ladder was procured. Mr. Woolley was removed to the house of a friend. He appears never to have lost his self-possession throughout.

The next head of evidence related to the account which Mr. Woolley had published in the local journal, and in which it was stated that he was aroused by, and, therefore, of course aware of the fire, about 3 in the morning. Evidence was also gone into as to the earliest appearance of the fire, and this was put by two or three witnesses, who had observed smoke as early as half-past 3 or 20 minutes to 4. The succession of facts in the order of time is most important, so far as can be arrived at from the evidence. The earliest evidence is that of two person who, being at the Marble-arch at 3, and having looked at the clock there, saw the smoke of the fire when they reached Notting-hill-gate at half-past 3. That is half an hour's walk from the Marble-arch, and lies a quarter of a mile to the west of Campden-house. That point of time was not disputed nor contradicted. Taylor, an inspector of police stated that the "beats" went round the enclosure and along the rows of houses on each of the four sides, and that it was his duty to visit his men there; that he saw Rogers, a policeman, in Sheffield terrace, at the back, at 20 minutes to 4; and that, when not far from Notting-hill-gate, at 20 minutes past 4, he observed fire. The next witness in order of time would be Mr. Freer and Nicholson, a policeman, who, being on the west side of the house near 4 o'clock, saw smoke, and heard the cry of fire. "I heard," said Nicholson, "a scream, a female scream." They went first to the part where Nicholson saw Rogers, and then to the back, where they saw Mrs. Temple lying on the ground, and also saw Mr. Woolley and Crozier. This, therefore, was just after Mrs. Temple had jumped out. Mr. Woolley, it should be observed, stated that he could not speak with any certainty as to the time between his own escape and that of Mrs. Temple. And it should further be observed, that the wind was blowing from the front over towards the back—from the south-east to the north-west—that is, rather towards Notting-hill-gate. Mr. Freer stated that he looked over a wall and saw a man in his shirt, calling out to some one, and then he got to the back and saw a woman lying on the lawn, so that this was after Mrs. Temple jumped out. He afterwards saw Rogers, and was not certain when he sounded his rattle. Nicholson said he heard no cry after the female scream until he heard the rattle. Rogers stated that about 20 minutes to 4 he, being in Sheffield-terrace, saw his inspector (as his inspector had seen him), and that, "about a quarter of an hour after," he saw smoke at the top of the house, and "sprung his rattle;" that is, according to his evidence, he sprung it a few minutes before 4 o'clock. Then, he said, he went to the front of the house, and again sprung his rattle as he went up towards the front. He went, he said, to the east end, and looking through the arch of the portico at that end, saw a man in his shirt standing at the back. It was at this end the Temples were, but he said he did not go right through the portico, and therefore did not see Mrs. Temple; but he said he went round to the front to get aid, and there Nicholson met him, and being asked by him if he saw any one, he said no one; but it seemed that he understood the question to relate to inmates in the front. So he explained it. Mr. Woolley stated that immediately after his own escape, he went round to the back and tried to arouse the Temples, and at last seeing Mrs. Temple at the window, urged her to escape by the roof of that portico, which she denied. Rogers stated that after having sprung his rattle, having gone a little under the archway, he saw a man standing in his shirt at the back of the houes; and Woolhouse, a milkman, coming round the other said he saw two men so standing. Woolhouse came in, he said, at the front, and went to the kitchen, that is to the east end, the opposite end to that where Rogers went. He said he went round to the back and saw two men in their shirts, and heard no cries; one of them, he said, was "towards" the right—i. e., the east end. He said he went inside the kitchen (which was on the left or west side of the entrance, and that his feet stumbled against a heap or bundle of something. The point of time at which this occurred he fixed as before 4, because he was going to his master's at that hour. He said however, that when he came the flames were creeping through the windows of the housekeeper'sroom (which is on the left of the entrance); that he went away for an engine, and came back in a quarter of an hour and that then the fire was all over the place. Inspectors Bocking and Hepburn stated that they were at the fire a little after, or (as the latter stated) a quarter past 4 o'clock, and helped the boy to escape, and took Mr. Temple away. The evidence of persons residing in front of the house went to show that the fire first became apparent to them a little before 4 o'clock, and that it was so rapid that at a quarter after 4 the house was in flames from end to end. The evidence of the police was that about a quarter to 4 they were alarmed by smoke and were on the spot, and that the first alarm was their rattle, and several neighbours were called to prove that before the rattle they heard no outcry, although one police inspector said he heard cry and rattle at the same time. The night was dark, rainy, and windy, and the wind blew towards the back of the house. With regard to the important episode of the alarm and escape of the Temples, and, above all, the part taken by Mr. Woolley in respect to it, his account was that his first impulse was to arouse the Temples, and that he made loud outcries to do so, and seeing Mrs. Temple at the window advised her which way to escape. Mrs. Temple being examined as to this statement denied it, but she admitted that she was very much alarmed, and, indeed, in a few minutes, as she said, she jumped from the window, and she was not certain as to the time under the circumstances. Mr. Woolley also said, upon his examination, that he could not speak as to time; the interval might be 3 minutes, 5, 10, or 15. Mrs. Temple stated that when she saw him he was making no outcry, it seemed to her that it was some minutes before he spoke, and that Crozier did not speak at all: and that after she jumped out he left her for what seemed to be a quarter of an hour; but she also said that she could hardly speak as to time, it seemed so long.

After the fire, the first fact that occurred seems to have been Mr. Woolley's letter to Mrs. Temple, making the statement above-mentioned. Then there was the fact that within a few days Crozier got Cliff to make a model of the house, and that Ellis told him he had seen Mr. Woolley and Crozier out at 2 in the morning. A few days after the fire, as Mr. Woolley stated, he saw Thompson, the editor of the 'West London Observer,' and "gave him the particulars" of the matter so far as he could recall them, and he admitted that the account which was drawn up by Thompson upon his information was read over to him. This account appeared on the 29th of March. In April Mr. Woolley sent in his claim to the insurance-office, and then followed that long train of discussion and corresponence, with which we need not trouble our readers, which ended in the final rejection of the claim, as we have already stated,

Mr. Bovill had opened the case with great clearness and ability, and Mr. Lush replied upon the whole evidence. But it was obvious that the confidence which he had expressed in the first instance had considerably abated. Mr. Bovill's reply to Mr. Lush was so conclusive as to the weakness of the evidence for the defence, that he was interrupted in the course of his speech by one of the jurors, who suggested that it was not necessary to hear him any farther.

Baron Bramwell summed up the case minutely, but briefly, considering the length of time the evidence had occupied. He acquitted the companies of having improperly resisted the claim, and expressed his opinion that they must have been convinced they could sustain their pleas, or they would not have ventured upon them. On the other hand, he pointed out that if the defence were really established it would go to prove that Mr. Woolley had committed fraud, perjury, and arson, and very narrowly escaped the commission of murder. Was it likely that he contemplated such results, or that he destroyed by his own act what appears to have been the occupation and delight of his life? It was purely a question of law, which he left it to the jury to decide.

The jury almost at once returned a verdict for the plaintiff.

Mr. Bovill claimed interest, and declared that he would not abate a halfpenny—and the verdict was accordingly entered for £4277 16s. 6½d.
